Gilbert, AZ— Rivulet Media announces the appointment of John Morgan and John “Jack” Wilenchik to its Board of Directors.

“We are thrilled to add John & Jack to our board of directors & look forward to utilizing their vast skills to move the company forward,” said Rivulet Media Chairman Aaron Klusman. He adds “John adds a “roll your sleeves up” Midwest operating discipline that will serve us well in staying focused on core fundamentals of profitability. While Jack’s experienced high profile litigation back ground adds a keen sharp eye to our team in helping best navigate complex contract negotiations within the industry.”

John Morgan, age 74, is managing partner at Falding Capital Group, and Executive Vice President and Secretary of Technical Air Products. Mr. Morgan has over fifty years of business development and management experience. He worked in the publishing and printing business for thirty-one years. He has owned many publishing businesses that include Graph-Ads, Inc. in Alma, MI; Advance Newspapers in Grand Rapids, MI; Flashes Publishers, Allegan, MI serving all of Southwest Michigan; TDI Talking Phone Books in Grand Rapids, MI serving Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, and Florida; and others. In 1999, Mr. Morgan sold his publishing business with his partner, Hank Meijer, to McCloud USA which at the time was the fourth largest telecom company in the US.

In late 2000, Mr. Morgan acquired Eagle Tugs, an aviation and industrial material handling manufacturer in Detroit, MI. Eagle Tugs was sold to Tronair in December 2015, which was owned by private equity firm, Golden Gate Capital. In early 2000, Mr. Morgan, through Falding Capital, purchased Cannon Truck Equipment, which is a complex truck equipment up-fitter in Macomb County, MI. In 2018, Mr. Morgan sold Cannon to Versalift which was owner by private equity firm, Sterling Capital. Mr. Morgan also served on the Board of Directors of the Bank of Alma from 1975-1997. Prior to 2006, Mr. Morgan was also President of American Cargo, a dry freight and cut away cube van manufacturer. Mr. Morgan graduated from Michigan State University with a BA in Communications in 1968. He has been married to Karley Deckrow Morgan since 1967. He and Karley have three children, Karri Gabridge, Kacie McLean, and Jace Morgan. They also have ten grandchildren. He and Karley reside in Naples, FL.

Jack Wilenchik, age 35, is a practicing trial attorney and partner at the law firm of Wilenchik & Bartness, P.C. in Phoenix, Arizona, and has been with the firm for over ten years. He holds one of the thirty largest jury verdicts in Arizona history and the largest jury verdict in the history of Mohave County, and has been listed on the national Superlawyers list of "Top Rated Attorneys" published by Thomson Reuters. Mr. Wilenchik has represented a number of public figures in the entertainment, political, and business space over the years and handled numerous high-profile cases in Arizona.

In his spare time, he serves as a “substitute judge” (judge pro tem) and sits on two boards for the City of Phoenix, named the Heritage Commission and the Historic Preservation Commission. He has served pro bono as a volunteer attorney for the Goldwater Institute, the Rutherford Institute, and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, as well as a special advisor to the Maricopa County Community Legal Services Volunteer Lawyers Program, and a regular volunteer for the Wills for Heroes program which prepares wills for law enforcement. Mr. Wilenchik has hosted and co-hosted a number of talk shows on AM radio on subjects including the law, entertainment, and consumer affairs. As a young man, Mr. Wilenchik lived for several years abroad, attending boarding school in Scotland and then a campus for international students in Italy. He is conversant in Spanish and studied Italian, Mandarin Chinese, and Hebrew at New York University from 2001-2004. He then moved back home to Arizona and studied Mathematics at Arizona State University, where he obtained a degree in interdisciplinary studies. In 2011 he obtained his law degree from Phoenix School of Law. Mr. Wilenchik is an avid fan of film and television production and personally produced/co-wrote small-budget film in the Phoenix area. He and his wife have two daughters and a son, all born in Phoenix.

Rivulet Media, recently merged with Bio-Matrix Scientific Group, Inc., positioning their film productions, through Rivulet Films, using a proprietary financing model to deliver studio quality star driven content more affordably than larger production companies can with in-house production teams.
